Jamaji Chilaka Nwanaji-Enwerem, a biology major, was recognized as Morehouse College's 2012 valedictorian during the school's 128th commencement. Jamanji was the Kathy and Dennis Berry ARCS Scholar for 2010-2012. In his thank you note, he wrote: "I am confident that the biological sciences are one tool that I will use to positively influence the world. Moreover, I still have the desire to become a professor and researcher at a medical school or some institution of higher learning. Your assistance not only encourages me to continue working hard, but also gives me further motivation to help others. Thank you."
